

Inhalt

Foreword: English Can Be Fun!

That Sounds Funny ...

*Funny-Sounding Words – Elephant’s at the Rubbity:
Rhyming Slang – “Hasta luego cocodrilo” – Tongue Twisters –
Wishy-Washy, Arty-Farty – Smash, Bang, Crash, Plop! – Cows Moo, Do You?*

Questionable Quotes

*Famous Last Words – Bushisms – More Crazy Things People
Have Said – Headlines – Bumper Stickers – Silly Signage –
Classified Ads – Church Bulletin Typos – Accident Reports –
Company Condoms – Pearls of Wisdom – Murphy’s Law*

Translations and Other Misunderstandings

Helpful Information for English-Speaking Tourists ... – F---Ing Kinky – Marketing Troubles

Colourful Language

*Colours – Colour Your World with Idioms – Drunk As a Skunk? No. Sick As a Dog! – Welches Tier gehört zu dir? –
Animal Idioms – Collective Nouns – Tidbits – Common
Yiddish Words – Let’s Play Ball – Colourful Comparisons ...
Aussie Style*

Let’s Get Silly

Books That Were Never Written – Kids’ Riddles + Jokes – Slightly More Sophisticated ...

Being Indirect

Euphemisms – Be Careful What You Say

Word Play

Anagrams – Spoonerisms – That’s a Pun, Son ... – “Can you give me the ... ahh, ummm, the ...?” – Playful Punctuation – Persuasive Punctuation – A Proverb for Every Occasion ...

A Poem

The English Language

Rules for Writers – Conjugating Very Irregular Verbs – Ghoti and Chips? – I Am So Gruntled! – X Marks the Spot – Proposals for English Language Reform – Making Simple Things Complicated – How to Say Nothing at All, yet Sound Competent – What Academic Writing Really Means . . .

Virtual Language

Spelling and Texting – The Internet

Games

For Further Fun

Editorische Notiz