

Contents

Part I A General Framework for the Precautionary and Inclusive Governance of Food Safety

Introduction .....	3
M. Dreyer and O. Renn
1 The Need for Change .....	11
A. Ely, A. Stirling, M. Dreyer, O. Renn, E. Vos, and F. Wendler
2 Overview of the General Framework .....	29
A. Ely, A. Stirling, M. Dreyer, O. Renn, E. Vos, and F. Wendler
3 The Process of Framing .....	47
A. Ely, A. Stirling, F. Wendler, and E. Vos
4 The Process of Assessment .....	57
A. Ely and A. Stirling
5 The Processes Evaluation and Management .....	71
O. Renn and M. Dreyer
6 Legal and Institutional Aspects of the General Framework .....	83
E. Vos and F. Wendler
7 A Structured Approach to Participation .....	111
M. Dreyer and O. Renn
8 Communication About Food Safety .....	121
O. Renn

9 Implementation of the General Framework: Genetically Modified (Cry1Ab) Maize Case Study .....	143
A. Ely
10 Summary: Key Features of the General Framework .....	159
M. Dreyer, O. Renn, A. Ely, A. Stirling, E. Vos, and F. Wendler
References .....	167
Annex 1 Possible Instruments for Extending Public Participation Beyond the Internet Forum and the Interface Committee .....	179
O. Renn
Part II Input and Commentaries by Key Actors in Food Safety Governance
11 Input of Key Actors in the Development of the General Framework .....	197
M. Dreyer
12 Commentaries on the Revised General Framework .....	207
D. Atkins, J. Norman, H.P.J.M. Noteborn, S. Davies, and R. Rawling
Glossary .....	239
Index .....	247