

Contents

|   |              |
|---|--------------|
| Preface.....   | V     |
| Preface.....   | IX    |
| Foreword .....   | XIII  |
| Profile of the authors .....   | XV    |
| List of illustrations .....  | XXIII |
| List of tables .....   | XXVII |
| 1. Introduction: Excellence in sales and customer management .....             | 1     |
| Increasing the strategic significance of sales .....                                  | 2            |
| Driver 1: Sales is an expensive resource.....   | 2            |
| Driver 2: Sales has the greatest performance improvement potential .....              | 3            |
| Driver 3: Sales creates real competitive advantage .....                              | 4            |
| Definition sales terms .....  | 4            |
| The Excellence in Sales study.....   | 5            |
| Notes for readers.....  | 6            |
| 2. The top 10 success factors for sales excellence.....                        | 9     |
| Core questions in this chapter .....  | 9            |
| No. 1: Sales should have a good in-company image .....                                | 10           |
| No. 2: Sales processes should receive systematic support .....                        | 11           |
| No. 3: Sales processes should be clearly defined .....                                | 11           |
| No. 4: Cross-functional sales approaches should be based on suitable structures ..... | 12           |
| No. 5: Customer planning should be systematic and documented .....                    | 12           |

|   |           |
|---|-----------|
| No. 6: Salespeople should have a high level of social competence.....                                   | 13        |
| No. 7: Salespeople should be experts in their customers' business .....                                 | 14        |
| No. 8: Utilise e-learning's potential for sales .....   | 15        |
| No. 9: Sales personnel should be real personalities with charisma .....                                 | 16        |
| No. 10: Successful sales organisations are supported by a customer relationship management system ..... | 17        |
| Recommended courses of practical action.....  | 19        |
| 3. Excellence in sales is an issue for the entire company .....                                  | 21 |
| Core questions in this chapter .....  | 21        |
| Sales-oriented alignment of corporate strategy.....   | 22        |
| The internal image of sales .....   | 25        |
| Sales is a top management issue .....   | 27        |
| Each employee is (also) responsible for sales.....  | 30        |
| Recommended courses of practical action.....  | 34        |
| 4. The interrelationship of marketing and sales strategies.....                                  | 37 |
| Core questions in this chapter .....  | 37        |
| Marketing strategy as an orientation for sales .....  | 38        |
| Core task profile: competences as a basis.....  | 40        |
| Positioning strategy: the fine art of marketing.....  | 41        |
| Market segmentation as the foundation for marketing strategy.....                                       | 45        |
| Marketing and sales cooperation in strategy development .....   | 51        |
| Recommended courses of practical action.....  | 56        |
| 5. Development of successful sales strategies .....  | 59 |
| Core questions in this chapter .....  | 60        |
| Contents of a sales strategy.....   | 60        |
| Development of a sales strategy .....   | 65        |
| Implementation of the sales strategy.....   | 67        |

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| Recommended courses of practical action.....                            | 71         |
| 6. Sales strategy information base.....                          | 73  |
| Core questions in this chapter .....                                    | 73         |
| Analyse customers, competitors and the company .....                    | 74         |
| Customer analysis .....   | 75         |
| Competitor analysis .....   | 77         |
| Analysis of the company situation.....                                  | 79         |
| Information sources and management .....                                | 81         |
| Recommended courses of practical action.....                            | 83         |
| 7. Customer segmentation .....                                   | 85  |
| Core questions in this chapter .....                                    | 85         |
| Goals for customer segmentation.....                                    | 85         |
| Customer data as the basis for segmentation .....                       | 88         |
| Recommended courses of practical action.....                            | 93         |
| 8. Definition of sales process goals for customer segments ..... | 95  |
| Core questions in this chapter .....                                    | 95         |
| Relationship between marketing targets and sales process targets ....   | 96         |
| Basis for the formulation of targets.....                               | 97         |
| Specifying concrete sales process targets .....                         | 98         |
| Recommended courses of practical action.....                            | 100        |
| 9. Designing sales processes .....                               | 101 |
| Core questions in this chapter .....                                    | 102        |
| Process orientation in sales .....                                      | 102        |
| Types of sales process.....   | 105        |
| Structure of customer retention processes .....                         | 112        |
| Customer expansion processes .....                                      | 116        |
| Selecting target customers .....  | 117        |
| Making contact .....  | 122        |
| Development of the sales process .....                                  | 126        |
| Recommended courses of practical action.....                            | 127        |

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| 10. Management of sales processes .....                                  | 129 |
| Core questions in this chapter .....  | 129        |
| Resources and capacity planning .....   | 130        |
| Benchmarking as an optimisation concept .....                                   | 132        |
| Optimisation of sales processes .....   | 135        |
| Optimisation by benchmarking .....  | 135        |
| Typical optimisation potential in sales processes .....                         | 136        |
| Recommended courses of practical action.....                                    | 139        |
| 11. Sales organisations .....  | 141 |
| Core questions in this chapter .....  | 142        |
| Orienting sales structures by region.....                                       | 142        |
| Orienting sales structures by products and services.....                        | 143        |
| Orienting sales structures by sector .....                                      | 144        |
| Orienting sales structures by customer segment .....                            | 147        |
| Sales structures for customer acquisition and retention .....                   | 150        |
| Sales structures with cross-functional team sales .....                         | 154        |
| Use of different sales channels .....   | 157        |
| Use of a single sales channel .....   | 158        |
| Use of several, parallel sales channels.....                                    | 160        |
| Use of a multi-channel system in different phases of thesales process ..... | 163        |
| Recommended courses of practical action.....                                    | 165        |
| 12. Steering systems.....  | 167 |
| Core questions in this chapter .....  | 167        |
| Control of employee behaviour in sales.....                                     | 168        |
| Findings on motivation as the starting point .....                              | 168        |
| Reward systems in sales .....   | 169        |
| Requirements for professional sales controlling systems .....                   | 171        |
| Management systems for controlling sales .....                                  | 179        |
| Targets as a control instrument .....   | 179        |
| Control via activities .....  | 181        |
| Requirements for reporting systems .....  | 182        |
| Customer Relationship Management (CRM) .....                                    | 186        |

|  |            |
|--|------------|
| Professional vocational and advanced training systems .....                    | 188        |
| Recommended courses of practical action.....                                   | 197        |
| 13. Management in sales .....   | 200 |
| Core questions in this chapter .....   | 200        |
| Management style .....   | 201        |
| Static management style concept.....   | 201        |
| Dynamic management style concept.....  | 204        |
| Spans of control .....   | 207        |
| The manager as coach.....  | 209        |
| Recommended courses of practical action.....                                   | 214        |
| 14. Execution of sales work .....                                       | 216 |
| Core questions in this chapter .....   | 216        |
| The differentiated sales model .....   | 216        |
| Customer planning.....   | 226        |
| Recommended courses of practical action.....                                   | 227        |
| 15. Digression: What salespersons can learn fromtop athletes ..... | 228 |
| 16. Conclusion and outlook .....  | 232 |
| List of literature .....  | 234 |