

Contents

Foreword	V
Acknowledgements	VII
List of Figures	XV
List of Tables	XVII
Chapter I – Introduction	1
1 Studying “Executive Work”	3
2 How the Research and Thesis Are Guided	7
2.1 Empirical Research Framework	7
2.2 Structure of the Thesis	9
Chapter II – Literature Review	11
1 The Rise of a Research School	13
1.1 A Brief Sketch of the Classical Management School	13
1.2 Motivation of the Work Activity School	14
1.3 Scope of the Work Activity School	15
2 The Work Activity School	17
2.1 Research Questions	17
2.2 Methods Applied	19
2.3 Empirical Fields	23
2.4 Towards a Map of Empirical Studies	29
2.4.1 Job	32
2.4.1.1 Demands	33
2.4.1.2 Constraints	34
2.4.1.3 Choices	36
2.4.2 Object	37
2.4.2.1 Characteristics	37
2.4.2.2 Individual Perception	38
2.4.2.3 Preferences	38

2.4.3	Activity	39
2.4.3.1	Activities	40
2.4.3.2	Time Distribution	42
2.4.3.3	Behavior	44
2.4.3.4	Managerial Roles	46
2.5	Literature Map of the Work Activity School	48
2.6	Major Contributions and Scholars of the Work Activity School	49
2.6.1	Foundational Contributions by Sune Carlson	50
2.6.2	Lateral Relationships and Systematic Understanding by Leonard Sayles	52
2.6.3	Demands, Constraints, and Choices of Jobs by Rosemary Stewart	53
2.6.4	The Theory of Managerial Work by Henry Mintzberg	57
2.6.5	ICT and Managerial Work by Ralf Reichwald et al.	62
2.6.6	Jobs, Managers, and Activities by John Kotter	66
2.6.7	New Directions in Managerial Work by Stefan Tengblad	69
3	Conclusion of Literature Review	73
Chapter III	– Case Study Methodology	75
1	Case Study Framing	77
1.1	Research Questions	77
1.2	Research Strategy	78
1.3	Challenges in Studying the Executive	80
1.3.1	Objectivity and Consistency	81
1.3.2	Convenience for the Executive	82
1.3.3	Comparability	83
1.4	Existing Methods and Evaluation	83
1.5	Arguments for the Method Selections	85
1.6	Choice of Methods Applied	85
1.6.1	Choice of Executive Calendars	86
1.6.2	Choice of Executive Interviews	87
2	Data Gathering	89
2.1	Data Gathering Strategy	89
2.2	Data Collection Process	89
2.3	Sample	91
2.3.1	Data Set of Executive Calendars	92
2.3.2	Data Set of Executive Interviews	92

3 Data Analysis	93
3.1 Analysis of Calendar Data	93
3.1.1 Categories of Calendar Analysis	95
3.1.2 Process of Calendar Analysis	99
3.2 Analysis of Interview Data	100
3.2.1 Quality Criteria of Interview Analysis	101
3.2.2 Process of Interview Analysis	102
4 Conclusion of Case Study Methodology	105
Chapter IV – Results and Discussion	107
1 Results	109
1.1 Scheduled Activities of the Executive	109
1.1.1 Executive Working Hours	109
1.1.2 Place of Executive Work	110
1.1.3 Mode of Executive Activity	112
1.1.4 Size of Executive Meeting	113
1.1.5 Executive Contact	114
1.1.6 Initiator of Executive Meeting	116
1.1.7 Subject of Executive Activity	117
1.1.8 Purpose of Executive Activity	118
1.1.9 Summary of Scheduled Activities	119
1.2 Perceived Influencing Themes of Executive Work	120
1.2.1 Contextual Themes	121
1.2.1.1 Values and Morals in Society	121
1.2.1.2 Markets and Organizations	122
1.2.1.3 Communication	124
1.2.1.4 Jobs	125
1.2.1.5 Responsibility	126
1.2.1.6 Contacts	127
1.2.2 Challenges and Conflicts	128
1.2.2.1 Pressures of Volume, Time, and Complexity	128
1.2.2.2 Physical Proximity	129
1.2.2.3 Privacy	130
1.2.2.4 Compliance and Governance	132
1.2.3 Summary of Perceived Influencing Themes	132
2 Discussion	135
2.1 New Directions of Executive Work	135

2.1.1	The Executive Works Long Hours Which Influences Private Life	135
2.1.2	The Executive Spends Increasingly More Activities Outside the Office	137
2.1.3	The Executive Faces Inappropriate Use of Communication Channels by Others	139
2.1.4	The Executive Meets with External Independent Contacts	140
2.1.5	The Executive Meetings are of Relatively Large Size	142
2.1.6	The Executive Moves from an Actively to a Passively Managed Calendar	143
2.1.7	The Executive Engages in Financial, Legal, and Organizing, Planning Activities	145
2.1.8	The Executive Activities have Various, Often Unrelated Purposes	147
2.2	Summary of New Directions	150
2.3	The Roles of Executive Work	152
2.3.1	Business Operation Roles	155
2.3.1.1	The Coach	157
2.3.1.2	The Confidant	158
2.3.1.3	The Motivator	159
2.3.1.4	The Reviewer	160
2.3.2	Business Integration Roles	161
2.3.2.1	The Connector	163
2.3.2.2	The Integrator	164
2.3.2.3	The Custodian	165
2.3.2.4	The Negotiator	165
2.3.3	Business Networking Roles	166
2.3.3.1	The Searcher	168
2.3.3.2	The Gatherer	169
2.3.3.3	The Transmitter	170
2.3.3.4	The Figurehead	171
2.4	Summary of Roles	171
3	Conclusion of Case Study	175
Chapter V	– Reflection	179
1	Contributions and Limitations	181
1.1	Literature Review	181
1.2	Case Study	182

2 Implications	187
2.1 Implications for Research	187
2.2 Implications for Teaching	189
2.3 Implications for Practice	190
Annexes	193
1 Leadership Schools	195
1.1 Trait School	196
1.2 Behavioral School	197
1.3 Contingency School	197
1.4 Transactional School	198
1.5 Transformational School	199
2 Empirical Research Framework	200
3 Background and Details of Literature Review	203
3.1 Review Approach	203
3.2 Review Collection Process and Analysis	205
3.3 Descriptive Results of the Literature Review	207
4 Arguments to Consider for Explorations	216
4.1 Arguments to Consider for a Descriptive Exploration	216
4.2 Arguments to Consider for an Interpretative Exploration	217
5 Executive Interview Guide	219
6 Results of the Calendar Analysis	220
7 Citations	226
Bibliography	235